

The diagram illustrates the execution of a loop with a break statement. It is divided into three main sections: a loop header, a loop body, and a loop footer. The loop header contains the text "while True:". The loop body contains a "Hello" statement followed by a "break" statement. The loop footer contains the text "end while". The diagram shows the loop executing three times, with the "break" statement being triggered on the third iteration, exiting the loop.
